Anjelica

Anjelica knew growing up she always wanted to model, just like every other young girl, but she always figured it was far fetched, and she would never have the chance. At the age of 18 she had a few photographers contact her about shooting. She was nervous at first but she went for it. Her first photoshoot was a killer and from that moment on she was addicted and dedicated. She knew what she had to do, and what she had to give up. It wasn't easy, and it was a slow process at first. Staying up late to practice posing, looking up new ideas and inspiration. Collecting wardrobe and setting a good reputation for herself, its a continuous work in progress. And now her goal is to inspire other models and young girls to go after their dreams. Aspire to inspire.

At the moment Modelling is something on the side because my main focus right now is to finish my bachelor of
