however she is a reserved person, keeping her first three months of modelling a secret. Aurora admits to doing her makeup for shoots in the early morning and sneaking out and removing her make-up on the way home, lying to her parents and pretending she was on days out with friends. Aurora's parents have disagreed with her modelling and were very shocked at one of Aurora's recent photos in a latex girdle calling it "fetish wear that was bordering on pornography". However, Aurora is incredibly ambitious and will never stop modelling. Aurora always try's her best to explain to her parents that she is still the innocent sweet girl at heart.

Holly Paige

Holly Paiges' love for a more different, more exotic life started in Yakota Japan, where she lived until she was five. Even at age two, she absorbed her Filipino step-mom's culture to the point that she spoke Tagalog as well as English.... until her dad, who was in the Air Force was stationed in Guam, leaving Holly with her free spirited mom, who drove taxi. Holly often rode with her while she drove all over Tokyo. "I can remember playing with her panty hose, and dress up a lot, My mom says I was always very creative, and very into how I presented myself." At age five, Holly and her mom moved to Kansas City, MO. to stay with a strict grandmother. This is where she started training in dance, and spent all her time alone practicing in the basement incessantly. The obsession with practicing and performing has been life-long. Holly says her other, very eccentric, gramma was the first to recognize her artistic nature. Having been brought up by two sets of parents of artists/performers, she had kept company with the great cinema stars, choreographers, play-writes, and musicians of the time. After leaving New York, her father and his model/assistant wife had their own running magic show at Greshams Theater in Hollywood, which later went on USO tour with Bob Hope and ended up morphing into a tv show in Atlanta in the 1950's. As a young adult, Holly moved to Atlanta alone, not knowing a soul. Originally she thought she wanted to become a photographer, but soon discovered acting and spent years training in theatre, film, commercials, body and voice. It was the need for headshots and character type photos for submissions that pulled Holly into modeling. "Photographers started requesting me and my passion for creating concepts kept calling me back to shoots. However, I primarily stayed with acting for some years, working on music videos, featured roles on major networks, movies, and speaking roles in indie films. It's great work, I love it, but something magic happened when my mom took me to the Mediterranean for a month. I wanted to travel and take pictures." Holly's first international experience as a model happened in Thailand and resulted in multiple magazine publications and a snowball of gigs spread throughout the U.S., Mexico, and Europe. "I get to see things tourists don't see in private and unusual locations, play with wild exotic animals, and stay and shoot in luxury accommodations. It's the most incredible way to travel and challenge myself as an artist. Also, I'd like to develop fitness and yoga and continue to travel - using natural beauty to help inspire wellbeing. However, i think sexy pictures of girls also inspires good moral! I take pictures of them myself too, because I love photography, art directing, and cloths designing no matter which side of the camera I'm on." Holly has numerous other interests, including cooking, boxing, and latin dance competitions. "I love it because all my skills can be used commercially. Modeling and acting is my lifestyle because it authentically encompasses all my passions and are a platform for all my artistic expressions and love for the human condition within us all" says Holly.

I am Skidget and for the past 3-4 years I worked as a Photo Model. I have a huge passion for expressing who I am and I love being in front of the camera. I mainly shoot fashion, lingerie, and implied. But I also enjoy many other creative projects like body paint, custom motorcycle and dress up. I am currently modeling exclusively for Showworld Photography. My photos also have been published in 381 Fashion Magazine, Hot Inked Magazine, Honey Doll Magazine,

Fast Life Magazine, Pretty Poison, Northern Shine, Celeb Riche, and many more. I have also just got my first cover with 381 Fashion Oct issue. I am located in the GTA (greater Toronto area). I love living in the big city, lots to keep me busy. I was born in Surrey, British Columbia 1990, into a blended family. I have 3 brothers and 2 sisters all older than me. This makes me the glue, as my mother would say. I glue the family together. They family moved to Ontario in 1992, to be closer to my grandparents and other extended family. I have traveled all across Canada, cost to cost. I would say out of everywhere I have been, Nova Scotia is my favorite place. My plan is to see the whole wide world one day, first place I want to go would be Australia. I want to see a kangaroo and also visit my best friend. I love showing the world my passion and so much more. Life is one big roller coaster and I am going to ride it till I can not ride it no more.

I am a Minnesota based model. I am freelance and find my own work! I've been fortunate enough to have gotten to travel for modeling, published several times, and have modeled internationally! I have the support of my family, friends and boyfriend who all want me to follow my dreams. My guy and I have had our ups and downs, he has his struggles and I have mine but over all we want what is best for each other. Some crazy things about me... hmmm where to begin! I'm not exactly the most normal person! Let's start with how my life should be made into a lifetime movie. My twin sister and I were born 3 months premature, born in North Dakota and then flown to the NICU in Minneapolis Minnesota. Here is where my twin and I were adopted by our nurse! Yup you read it right! My mom was my nurse. Crazy right?! My mom's a NICU nurse and my dad's a college professor, so growing up seeing how successful they are has really made me want to follow suit and make a name for myself as I feel they have! I've dreamed of modeling since I can remember. I've always wanted to play with makeup and wear heels, probably because I would see glamour magazines and want to copy what I saw! Unfortunately it came at a price. Growing up I was extremely fit, I played volleyball most of my life, since 5th grade, and had wanted to make it into college with it, however height wasn't on my side and being five foot five inches and an outside/middle hitter it became clear my junior year of highschool it wasn't going to happen. So I changed my career goals and looked more seriously into modeling. Idolizing how small the models were, and comparing my extremely fit body to them I underwent severe eating disorders. After battling with eating disorders on my own from junior year of highschool until I was twenty years old I finally went and got outpatient treatment through a clinic in a town called Burnsville here in Minnesota. Fast forward to now, and I'm 2 years as of December symptom free, healthy and chasing after my dreams more than ever! I want to prove to women and men all over that no matter what your struggles are or how your life is, you can pave your own path and learn from your past to better your own future.
