Alex Van Zeelandt was born on February, 9th, 1991 in Brooklyn, New York (full name Alexandra Leigh Van Zeelandt). She relocated to Tennessee with her family 2002 when she was 12. She's been acting since 2009.

Alex started her career as a model, and quickly gained recognition within the industry. After being published one hundred and nine times, she became more focused on a film career. Modeling was never a permanent path for her, and she always wanted to be an actor. Alex decided to focus her full attention towards becoming an actress, and a good one at that. She became a dedicated student of Stanislavski theatre, and film historian.

To date, Alex has been in thirty three music videos, two billboards, four commercials, three feature films, two television shows, nine shorts as well as winner of Nashville Model Of The Year. She was awarded best supporting actress at the 54 Hour Film Festival (in Nashville 2015) and is in The Wolf of Wall Street as well as on The Wolf of Wall Street movie poster / DVD cover in three different places next to Leonardo DiCaprio. Alex is also a proud SAG-AFTRA member.

Alex does more than just act. She's been involved with production work such as script advising, producing, makeup, AD, and PA. Her makeup work can be seen in the new documentary film by Dinesh called "Hillary's America," due for international release July 22nd (where she was photographed in the July issue of Vanity Fair). By the year 2016, Alex hopes to be directing narrative shorts and features for major film festivals.
