I work very hard, almost too hard. I rarely have any days off since I'm juggling so much. My personal business is called Enchanted Forest Parties, I perform as any princess for children's parties. My services include face painting, balloon twisting, games, and glamour parties. I also have superheroes and some mascots as well. It's such a rewarding experience getting to perform for children, but unfortunately due to covid my party business is on hold since gatherings are illegal.

I'm also an independent consultant for Arbonne and it's become one of my passions. I love their vegan cosmetic line for my parties since it's completely cruelty free, free from toxic chemicals, and safe for children's delicate faces. I'm also in love with their nutrition program, 30 days to healthy living, that's helped me tremendously with feeling more energized. As an added bonus it also helps with weight management, reducing inflammation, and feeling more balanced. I love coaching people to help them to feel better from within.

Since covid has put a lot of businesses on freeze, people have been turning to their hobbies to generate extra income. I've been modeling on and off since 2006. I started modeling part time about 5 years ago and over the past few years of building up my portfolio, I'm getting booked pretty consistently for work. My advice to anyone starting out is to practice in the mirror, relax, and try not care about how silly think you may look. It's better to try something new than to regret not trying at all.

I am a professional published model of Memphis TN. I have loved modeling since age 13 years old. I began my modeling career as a model of Memphis TN in the year of 2015, and was later assigned to an agency called Work Of Art Agency of Memphis TN for my talent. I have also done many fashion shows in the local areas of Memphis and even parts of Mississippi, as well as out of town shows. I have traveled to many cities such as ATL, New York, Kansas City, New Orleans as well as Chicago. Modeling isn't something I can just give up on it's my passion, not only I love what I do I live it everyday of my life. My idols always have been Tyra Banks & Naomi Campbell. Seeing them on the runway always motivated me to give it my best no matter what. In 2019 and in 2020 I was nominated for The SCM Awards for Model OTY by Jay Shield of Memphis TN. I was also nominated for Hood Idol Magazine Model OTY in Moss Point Ms. And received a trophy for my hard work. Modeling is everything to me! As a model of Memphis TN, I strive for the best I can be not only as a model, but as a mother of five beautiful children, a wife, and as a grandmother of two. In the fashion industry I have done TV, commercial, videos, lingerie, nude, and body art. I was even published in many magazines, such as Xposure, Erotica, Dime, XOXO, Through The Lens, Slay Queenz, Hood Idol, and Fascic Magazine for my talent as a model, and also on Roku for Battle Of The Strut which is produced by Kimberly Young of Kansas City, and been interviewed on the radio of 92.7fm on The Chris Grindhard Show. As a 5'2 inch model I continue to push towards success. I love how God created me. He created me to be able to stay focused, and motivated, as well as having confidence in myself. I love being me, different how God created me to be. I am your favorite Memphis Model, The Memphis Slayer

Hi there. I'm Katelyn, Katie for short, I'm 27, and finally believing big dreams can come true, my story and why I'm finally doing this? I recently found out I have cancer in my cervix and my Uterus is mis shaped, I have endometriosis with a bunch of other things wrong, so I would love to see a fertility specialist so hopefully one day I can make a mini me. Or save for adoption; So here I am with the crazy wild dream to be a model or photographed in a magazine. My goal one day...I want to start an apprenticeship to be Piercer, along with my aspiring model. I've never been the pretty girl, or popular so to even put myself out there has been huge for my self love and confidence. I have been sick for months in months, lost of job, friendships, to get any help in this hard time would make me even more grateful. When I say help, I mean to get my story out! 2020 was hard as we all know. I lost 8 people. Two uncles and two best-friends a couple childhood/ home town friends. In February I was sexually assaulted, and too afraid to say anything, a lot of friends and family didn't Believe it I had to say or take it seriously, regardless SPEAK UP. When I finally put my words out there, the guy had three other open cases against him. Grief is hard. It's hard not to blame ourselves, Feel guilty and remember to forget the Trumatic things that happen to us. I do feel like the real goal in life is to figure out how to be happy because bad things are gonna happen and how we deal with it and react is what makes us grow. I still have nightmares I'm still scared. But girl or guy we had to stand together because Sexual assault and death happen and to feel alone, After feeling defeated it is worst feeling of them all. I had such high hopes for 2021 just to lead into it finding out all this news of cancer that flipped my world around. This is why I wanna Chase my dreams life is so short and I just wanna be happy. I also would like to support anyone doing through grief, Depression, and suicide. Talk about your feelings and take care of your body we are so fragile.

Being a 43-year-old mum to three children, 18 months ago I never dreamed of being a model. I was shy and retiring, I was dared to post an underwear style image in a Facebook group which I did although I hid my face. I had spent many years in an abusive relationship where I suffer daily put downs regarding my appearance. I did not think I was pretty, let alone sexy. Confidence was a major issue for me as I had next to nothing.

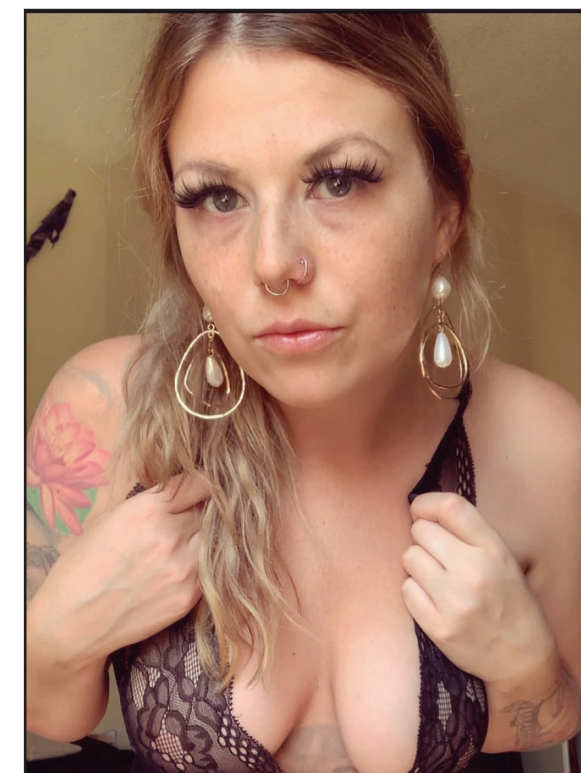

A few kind words did wonders for my self-esteem. The next minute I was taking more photographs and suddenly scouted for a national modelling competition. The budding model was emerging from her shell!

Thrown into the lion's den for my first professional shoot, I had no idea how to pose. I did what can naturally to me with a little help and direction I managed to produce the shots which are pictured here. I could not believe it when I made the final.

I had gone from literally taking snapshots in my bedroom to an internationally published model in the space of a year. My confidence has boomed and my insecurities are long gone. Do I think I am the next face of Gucci or Prada – absolutely not! But I am going to continue being creative and producing great images.

I guess what you can take from my story, is that you are never too old to start a new adventure. Never let anyone standing in the way of your dreams and aspirations! You can achieve anything with a little confidence in yourself.

I am back in the National modelling competition this year for a second shot at the crown, so please follow me on my next adventure which begins in the second half of 2021!

I am Model Kaya. I have been modeling 3 years now and I have come a very long way from when I started. Modeling has helped me become so much comfortable with my body. I love lingerie. I believe every woman should model lingerie at least once in her life. It makes you feel so sexy and beautiful inside and out. That is a feeling every lady deserves to feel...

Hey you! My name is Mariah. I'm a free lance model based out of upstate NY. But, my first job is mama. I have a beautiful daughter and a handsome little boy that are my entire world.

I started this journey 6 years ago as a hair model, just for fun. I thought it would be cool to get my hair spiced up and walk down the runway. Little did I know, my passion for modeling began there. My passion however did not include hair modeling, it quickly took a turn. While I never forgot where I started, I couldn't wait to get off that runway and just pose in front of the camera. I love working with different photographers coming up with new and creative ways to shoot. Each and every photographer has their own eye, and I love to collaborate with that to make a beautiful photo.

My biggest goal in life is to be the best person I can be and to pass these traits onto others. My children especially. I aim to show them the world is theirs.

If you want it, take it!
